• Essay on Teenage pregnancy (500 words) –

Introduction –

What exactly is Teenage pregnancy – Teenage pregnancy is when a woman under 20 , gets pregnant. It usually refers to teens between the ages of 15-19. But it can include girls as young as 10. It's also called teen pregnancy or adolescent pregnancy. In recent years , cases of teenage pregnancy are increasing tremendously . Teen pregnancy can destroy families. A teen girl getting pregnant and giving birth to a child before marriage is still considered as a taboo in our society .

Getting Pregnant at a young age generally has severe effects on the child bearing mother . If her family and society isn't supportive and she doesn't have strong will power then most probably it results in abortion and death of an innocent child who didn't even took his first breathe .

Complications with Teenage pregnancy –

Girls start ovulating and are capable of reproduction from their first menstruation , but a female body needs much more to give birth to a young one ; When a girl is pregnant then She has to take care of the young one living in her womb for 9 months and that can only be done by taking care of herself .

- Stress is the most dangerous Factor – When a women gets pregnant , she is kept in a healthy environment and is advised not to take any kind of stress ; But this thing becomes practically impossible for a Teenage mother , because she has to bear tons of stress from Family , Society and even friends and School .

- Teenage Mother's dropout rates are very high – It is observed that when a Teenager becomes a mother , she generally leaves the school. Taking care and raising a baby isn't an easy task to do and managing the studies and going to school too requires much time and energy and In most of the cases Teenage Mothers give more Importance to their child than school .

- Teenage pregnancy can lead to bad health of a child – The development of a child inside a mother's womb depends completely on the mother . A Mother is advised to take at least 350 calories and 8 litres of water along with proper supplement of Vitamins and Proteins for good physical development of child and for good mental development they are advised to be stress and Tension Free .

- Teenage pregnancy can lead to bad financial condition of the bearing mother – When a Teenager becomes mother , They generally drop out of their schools and If they study also ; they can't focus on their education and When One doesn't Completes higher education then getting a good paying job becomes impossible for them and it results in a bad financial condition and insecure future for the Teenage Mothers.

Conclusion –

Teenage pregnancy could lead to a lots of problems both for the child and for the mother , There is an age for everything and 15-19 isn't the age for anyone to become a mother ; A mother is not only responsible for her future but for the future of her whole family and In Teenage we aren't Physically and mentally matured to do that . Spreading more information and awareness about sexual Education is the need of the hour and our society needs to broaden it's mind on this
